Research Overview:
Technology has a strong impact on management and organisational life as a whole. It is used as a production tool, support vehicle, service improver, and as a control mechanism. The electronic network, and in particular the e-mail media, is a technology tool which enables a fast, accurate and effective means of communication. Moreover, it has far reaching outcomes; perhaps even more than it was designed to achieve. The research question: E-mail as a new media: does it reduce/eliminate bullying, increase it, or just alter it?
